History of the Diocese of Brisbane

The Diocese of Brisbane is coterminous with Southern Queensland. Its area is 542,000km<sup>2</sup>, and its population is about half of the entire population of the state which is estimated at five million. The members of the Anglican Church of Australia form about 25% of this number. There are approximately 500 clergy and 300 churches.

On 14 June, 1859, Dr Edward Wyndham Tufnell was consecrated first Bishop of Brisbane, and arrived here in September 1860, to exercise Episcopal control in the newly formed Colony of Queensland. The Bishop arrived to find the work in the Diocese maintained by the utterly inadequate staff of three clergy. To these must be added the six clergy the Bishop brought with him. When, after 14 years' strenuous pioneer work, the Bishop resigned, he left a staff of 26 clergy and a Diocese equipped and furnished with all the needful machinery for Diocesan administration.

In 1874, when Bishop Tufnell resigned, with the Synod of the Diocese failing to elect a successor or to delegate the power of appointment to the Church at home, the appointment of his successor lapsed to the bishops of Australia and Tasmania, by whom the Rt Rev'd Mathew Blagden Hale, Bishop of Perth, was nominated. Bishop Hale was translated to Brisbane in 1876. During the episcopate of Bishop Hale, which lasted eight years, the Diocese of North Queensland was formed. In the year 1878, the Rev'd George Henry Stanton, then Vicar of St Giles in the Fields, was consecrated Bishop of the new Diocese, and arrived in Queensland in 1879.

In 1884, when Synod was called upon to elect a successor as Bishop in succession to Bishop Hale, the choice was delegated to the Archbishop of Canterbury, which resulted in the consecration of the Rev'd William Thomas Thornhill Webber, on St Barnabas' Day, 1885. The Bishop was enthroned by the Primate in St John's Pro-Cathedral on 17 November 1885. When the Bishop arrived he found 33 clergy working in the Diocese; on his death, in the year 1903, the number had risen to 57. The episcopate of Bishop Webber is well remembered for two great outward achievements – the creation of the Diocese of Rockhampton and the successful launching of the Cathedral project. On SS Philip and James' Day 1889, the Ven Nathaniel Dawes, Archdeacon of Brisbane, was consecrated Coadjutor Bishop of the Diocese, with special oversight over the Northern portion, and when four years later the See of Rockhampton was formed, Dr Dawes was elected its first Bishop.

When, in 1903, the choice of Bishop was delegated to the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Rev'd St Clair George Alfred Donaldson was nominated to the vacant See.

Archbishop Donaldson resigned from 15 November 1921. The Rt Rev'd Gerald Sharp was elected to fill the vacancy by the Archbishop Election Committee, and was enthroned in St John's Cathedral on 16 November 1921. He remained in charge of the Diocese as Archbishop until the day of his death, 30 August 1933.

In November 1933, the Archbishop Election Committee met in Brisbane and elected the Rev'd John William Charles Wand, Dean of Oriel College, Oxford. Archbishop Wand was consecrated in St Paul's Cathedral, London, on Tuesday, 1 May 1934, and on Wednesday, 5 September, was enthroned in St John's Cathedral, Brisbane. He resigned on 31 July 1943, on his appointment as Bishop of Bath and Wells.

On 3 November 1943, having been elected by the Archbishop Election Committee, the Rt Rev'd Reginald Charles Halse, Bishop of Riverina, was enthroned in St John's Cathedral, Brisbane. He remained in charge of the Diocese as Archbishop until the day of his death, 9 August 1962.

On 28 March 1963, having been elected by the Archbishop Election Committee, the Rt Rev'd Philip Nigel Warrington Strong, Bishop of New Guinea, was enthroned in St John's Cathedral, Brisbane. He resigned on 30 June 1970.

On 10 July 1970, the Rev'd Canon Frank William Coaldrake, Chairman of the Australian Board of Missions, was elected to be the Archbishop of Brisbane. Unfortunately, he died suddenly on 22 July 1970 before he could be consecrated or enthroned.

On 17 October 1970, having been elected by the Archbishop Election Committee, the Rt Rev'd Dr Felix Raymond Arnott, Bishop Coadjutor of Melbourne, was enthroned in St John's Cathedral, Brisbane. He resigned on 31 July 1980.

On 15 November 1980, having been elected by the Archbishop Election Committee, the Rt Rev'd John Basil Rowland Grindrod, Bishop of Rockhampton, was enthroned in St John's Cathedral, Brisbane.

His resignation took effect from 4 December 1989.

On 22 March 1990, having been elected by the Archbishop Election Committee, the Rt Rev'd Peter John Hollingworth, Bishop of the Inner City of Melbourne, was enthroned in St John's Cathedral, Brisbane. His resignation became effective from 25 June 2001.

On 2 February 2002, having been elected by the Archbishop Election Committee, the Rt Rev'd Dr Phillip John Aspinall, Assistant Bishop of Adelaide, was installed in St John's Cathedral, Brisbane.

History of St John's Cathedral

The Cathedral Church of St John the Evangelist is one of the great works of architecture stemming from the Victorian neo-gothic revival of the 19th Century.

The design, by eminent English architect John Loughborough Pearson, is a mixture of French and Early English neo-Gothic style, with many features reminiscent of Norman cathedrals in Caen and Coutances. Pearson had already designed a new cathedral for Truro in Cornwall, where he concentrated principally on English Gothic style, but for this building he planned a polygonal apse at the east end, and a double-aisled nave, providing a processional ambulatory around the central worship space.

The sexpartite ribs of the vault, rising from the major and minor piers of the nave and chancel give a unified sense of space and grace, with elegance of form and proportion. It is understood that this is the most extensive stone vault in the southern hemisphere.

The pillars which form such a notable feature of the cathedral are marvellously varied in form and scale – from the solid Romanesque piers of the southern chapels and the graceful columns of the nave and chancel, to the massive piers of the crossing, and the elegant columns in the Lady Chapel.

The outer walls of the cathedral are of pink porphyry from the O'Connell Town quarry in Windsor, four kilometres from Brisbane. The interior stone in varying shades of creamy brown is sandstone from Helidon, near Toowoomba. The external window dressings of the first stage were of stone from the Pymont quarries in Sydney, New South Wales, while those of the later stages are also from the Helidon quarries in Queensland.

The Lady Chapel and the Southern Chapels form delightful intimate spaces for smaller services and private prayer, and their different character is emphasised by the differing treatments – the Lady Chapel (originally intended as a Children's Chapel) is designed with a calculated lightness and grace which makes it at once a place to which children can relate without being over-awed. The children of the Diocese contributed towards the cost of this chapel, placing in the offertory at the Consecration Ceremony, gifts in specially-made silken purses. The Southern Chapels, with the solid Romanesque piers remind one of many a parish church with a side aisle (indeed the reference to the previous St John's in George Street, may be deliberate).

The High Altar is somewhat Byzantine in style with contrasting coloured marbles, and inlaid glass mosaics. The central panel of the front is made of quartz and agate. The rounded pillars are green Cornish marble, and the altar is inlaid with alabaster, and green quartz in the side panels. The mensa (table top) is made of three slabs of grey-green marble from Iona (the traditional birthplace of British Christianity). The altar is a memorial to Bishop Webber, whose inspiration led to the building of the cathedral. His body rests beneath the altar, having been translated from the Toowong cemetery in 1910.

Pearson's original design included an impressive baldachino (canopy) supported by four columns above the High Altar (similar to that he had designed for Peterborough Cathedral). The floor has been specially strengthened to carry the additional weight.

The pulpit, carved from Cornish soapstone, was imported from England and features a carved panel depicting Christ teaching the people.

The font, of grey black marble, rests on columns of Frosterley marble in which can be seen interesting fossils.

The carved choir stalls in the chancel were designed by Frank Pearson (John Pearson's son), and the initial sections were carved in Burmese teak, by Luscombes of Exeter. The carving of the remainder of the stalls was continued by Colin Blumson, one of Australia's first Churchill fellows, and completed in 1992.

The canopies on the north side of the choir contain representations of British saints, Alban, Patrick, Ninian and David, together with patron saints associated with diocesan schools. On the south side, are represented King George V and Queen Mary, together with founding Bishops of Australia and the province of Queensland.

The pipe organ, built by Messrs Norman and Beard in 1910, was rebuilt and enlarged in 1969-72 by Messrs Hill, Norman and Beard. The carved organ case of the north transept, designed by Frank Pearson, was donated by Herbert Jones in commemoration of the centenary of the City of Brisbane 1824-1924. At the time of the rebuild in 1972, carved wooden screens were provided for the swell organ facing into the chancel — these latter being designed by Arnold Conrad and executed by Colin Blumson, featuring a pair of ringtail possums in the middle of the screen.

The stained glass ranges from imported English glass of the early 20th Century (such as the great Wheel Window of the north transept, designed by Frank Pearson and executed by Burlisson and Grylls), through Australian designs by William Bustard to the more recent modern glass of the clerestory and nave by David Saunders and Glenn Mack, stained glass artists with a deep sense of spiritual vocation.

The completed cathedral is 79.2m long. The width of the nave is 10.6m, the outer aisles 9.6m, and the transepts 8m. The height of the ceiling vault is 18.2m.

Construction History

The first Church of St John 1843-1854 stood on the corner of what is now Queen Street and North Quay. St John's Church was then moved to a new site between William, George and Elizabeth Streets and the old building was used for a while as a school and also as the Brisbane Volunteer Fire Station. This Church was built in 1850-54 to a design by ET Blacket.

There were three stages to the building of the second St John, the first beginning with the laying of the foundation stone when a portion of the William Street nave was built; the second, when this was extended by the length of two bays, and the third when a duplicate nave with chancel were added. The church was dedicated to St John the Evangelist by Bishop Tyrrell on 29 October 1854. St John's remained the parish church of Brisbane until it became the pro-cathedral of the Diocese of Brisbane. The enthronement of Bishop Tufnell on 4 September 1860 gave a new status to the little St John's Church as pro-cathedral for the Diocese of Brisbane.

In 1876, a peal of eight bells was installed in a wooden tower at the original site of St John's Church in William Street. However they were housed in a timber belfry which only allowed them to be chimed not rung. This remained the case when the bells were transferred to the present cathedral site in 1906 and housed in a temporary timber bell tower.

In 1879-1880 the school was built. The last service in the second St John's was held on 7 August 1904. In that same year, St Luke's Church in Charlotte Street was opened and dedicated to serve as the pro-cathedral until the new cathedral was built.

The new cathedral was designed by John Loughborough Pearson for his friend William Webber who had been appointed third Bishop of Brisbane in 1885. Bishop Webber promoted the idea of replacing the old church with a cathedral and he and John Pearson discussed plans for the cathedral in 1886. In September of that year, at his inaugural address to the Diocese, the Bishop reported that the Diocesan Council had agreed to invite Pearson to prepare the design. He commented: "Thus our citizens will see that we aim at giving to Brisbane nothing less than the best which highest modern art can produce."

Pearson's plans were approved in April 1889, although there were no resources in hand to attempt the commencement of such a grand project in the fledgling colony. The pro-cathedral site in William Street was clearly inadequate, and in 1899 an alternative site between Adelaide and Ann Streets at the northern entrance to the city was purchased, and a site plan was produced in 1900.

Construction work on St John's Cathedral commenced with the laying of the Foundation Stone on 22 May 1901 by the Duke of Cornwall and York (later King George V), on his way home from the opening of the first Federal Australian Parliament in Melbourne. It is located on the north side of the sanctuary, beside the altar rail, and can be seen from the ambulatory.

In 1904, the old St John's in Queen's Park was demolished and much of the material was used in the construction of the St John's Day School (now known as Webber House).

The building of the cathedral commenced on 22 April 1906. The first stage of the cathedral was built between 1906 and 1910 and consecrated on the Feasts of Saints Simon and Jude – 28 October 1910; it comprised the polygonal end (the east end), sanctuary and chancel, the side chapels, transepts and first bay of the nave. The organ, the pulpit and the rose window were in position in time for the Consecration of the Cathedral.

By the time the building commenced in 1906, both the architect John Pearson and the motivating Bishop Webber had died and the design development had passed to Pearson's architect son Frank Loughborough Pearson. He was never able to visit the site. The contractor for the first stage of building was Peter Rodger of Ballarat, Victoria.

Care has been taken to remain faithful to Pearson's concept and designs. The original plan envisaged a cathedral which would cost some £100,000 (and at that time the colony numbered some 100,000 inhabitants). It was a very grandiose scheme for its time. The first stage of the building (about one third of its bulk) was commenced in 1906 and completed in 1910, at a cost of some £37,000.

The clergy stalls were installed in June 1913. The sounding board over the pulpit was not installed until September 1916.

In 1944, it was resolved to make the completion of St John's Cathedral the Diocesan War Memorial. On 24 October 1946 an appeal was launched. On 15 July 1947, Field Marshall Viscount Montgomery of Alamein laid the corner stone (known as the Stone of Remembrance) of the extensions.

On Sunday 21 August 1955, the first sod was turned by His Excellency the Governor-General of Australia (Sir William Slim).

A Start-of-Building Service was celebrated on 21 November 1965 and work resumed. On 27 May 1968, HRH Prince Philip unveiled a stone in the new portion commemorating the completion of the masonry. The two bay extensions (1964-68) were completed and consecrated on Friday 22 November 1968. On the advice of structural engineers, added strength was given to the structure by incorporating within the piers a core of steel.

In 1988, two bells were added to the peal as a Bicentennial gift from the Friends of the Cathedral and the Cathedral Gift Shop, and the 10 bells were transferred to a steel frame intended to be the skeleton of the north west tower. Here they could be rung full circle, but only with a fair degree of difficulty because of excessive movement in the tower. In 2004, they were rehung in their final resting place above the nave crossing as Pearson intended, where they can be rung in full circle without compromise.

The final stage of construction to complete the cathedral commenced in 1989. Peter Dare of Exeter was appointed the master mason in the same year. After a time he also took over the role of construction manager, and has overseen the completion of the nave and the west end of the Cathedral.

Work took place on the south-west porch between June 1989 and 1990, and continued with construction of the fourth bay of the nave and the western front. The western front was opened in December 2006. Work then commenced on the construction of the western towers.

In 2000, the first stained glass window was installed in the west end; this commemorated Australian-United States of America comradeship during World War II; it was executed by Glenn Mack of Victoria.

In early 2000, a public competition was held for the design of the major window in the west front, known as the Millennium window. The design submitted by Scott Maxwell on the theme of "creation" was accepted by the Cathedral Chapter and executed by Warwick Blair of Brisbane.

In mid-2000 work on the cathedral, which had been previously supervised by Conrad & Gargett Pty Ltd, was transferred to architect Michael Kennedy because of his expertise in conservation architecture. The Cathedral Chapter at the same time established its own CAD drawing office and appointed an architectural draftsman to facilitate issues of drawing and cutting profiles for the computer-directed wire saw used to produce stone for the building. John Phillips, RIBA, of London acted as a consultant architect to the project until his death in 2006.

In late 2006, Peter Dare returned to England. He remained a consultant to the project, but the role of construction manager has passed to Terry McCallum. Cliff Lawrence was the foreman mason in charge of stone work.

The western spires were raised on the 1 March 2008 and the central spire on the 11 November 2008, complete with the installation of the last two bells. Both days received wide, national media coverage and were an historic achievement. This marked the end of the construction of the cathedral. The cost of the final stage of cathedral construction was $39.2m.

The West Windows were installed in March 2009 (a public competition for the design was held and was won by Mr Glenn Mack). The exciting design centers on the theme of the 'I am' saying from St John's Gospel, and includes symbolism which captures the desire to enter into dialogue with other faiths and the world of science. The Catholic Archdiocese (who celebrated 150 years of the Catholic Archdiocese in Brisbane in 2009) donated a pair of windows as their gift to us on the sesquicentenary of the Anglican Diocese of Brisbane. We also have a window commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Anglican Diocese of Brisbane as well as the State of Queensland.

The Cathedral was consecrated by the Most Rev'd Dr Phillip Aspinall on 29 October 2009, in an extremely moving and powerful liturgy. Music was provided by the cathedral choir, the Camerata of St John's and the Brisbane Chamber Choir. The service was attended by over 50 bishops, former Archbishops, Deans of the Cathedral, ecumenical friends and political figures. The preacher was the Very Rev'd David Richardson (Archbishop of Canterbury's Representative to the Holy See and Director of the Anglican Centre in Rome). The service incorporated a welcome by the traditional owners, a didgeridoo player and dancing the Gospel by representatives of the Torres Strait Islander group. A DVD of the Service was made and distributed at the end of the year.

It was fitting that we were able to consecrate the cathedral in the sesquicentenary year of both the State of Queensland and the Anglican Diocese of Brisbane.

The consecration dinner took place the following evening, 30 October, and was another successful event with wonderful musical content.

Plans to develop the northern precinct in sympathy with Pearson's vision continued during 2009. Permission was sought from Brisbane City Council to amend our successful development application to allow for staging the project, i.e. stage one is to refurbish St Martin's, Webber and Church Houses for office accommodation and build the three-story annexe behind Webber House and stage two is constructing the car park.

Cathedral Coin Collection

In 2010, a donor, who wishes to remain anonymous, donated an extensive collection of ancient coins to St John's Cathedral. Some coins in the collection date back to the time of Christ. Jack Barnes made a secure showcase for the coins that are on public display near the southern chapels. The core collection is supplemented by the temporary addition of coins and other items of interest that refer to a specific event.

In 2021, the cathedral coin collection joined with the Centre for Coins, Culture and Religious History Foundation. This foundation's research and teaching work is based on a substantial collection of coins and other artefacts. The collection currently consists of 2,225 coins and 375 medals, medallions and tokens, and 111 of the coins are on display in the cathedral.

Northern Precinct Development

Plans for the construction of an extension to Webber House firmed as 2011 progressed. Groundbreaking ceremonies were conducted by the Dean for the cathedral congregations on 24 July, and by the Archbishop for staff on 7 September. Hutchinson Builders commenced work on Monday 28 November. Work was completed in 2012, allowing for many of the diocesan services to be co-located in the Cathedral grounds and allowing for the centralising of functions for the diocese and the cathedral.

After consideration, chapter named the site St John's Cathedral Precinct. Chapter wished to create a welcoming environment not only for staff, but also for all visitors to the cathedral and precinct. Both Webber House and the annexe are collectively known as Webber House.

A blessing of Webber House and the commissioning of the people of St John's Cathedral Precinct was conducted by the Archbishop on 4 October 2012.

Refurbishment of St Martin's House commenced in early November 2012, and was completed during 2013 by Hutchinson Builders. During the work, extensive termite damage was identified and treated. There will be ongoing work in order to avoid future infestations. The public toilet block was also refurbished.

Stage two, the development of the cloisters and the construction of a car park remains on the table and will only proceed at a time when sufficient funds are available. Parking on site is increasingly problematic and visitors are encouraged to take public transport.

BHP Billiton Building, 380 Queen St – Grocon Constructions

Grocon, the builders, and Nexus, the owners, opened this building mid-2015. Aspects of the building are in sympathy with the cathedral such as the building being designed to reflect the porphyry and sandstone of the cathedral.

Hobbs Park is located in the building and was named by the Right Honourable Graham Quirk, Lord Mayor of Brisbane on 12 March 2015. There are plans to construct a pedestrian bridge connecting Hobbs Park to the east end of the cathedral, thus establishing a connection between the Brisbane River and historic Adelaide House (The Deanery). A pedestrian bridge will be a great benefit attracting people to St John's Precinct. The cathedral and 480 Queen Street management have a very good ongoing working relationship.

Storm 27 November 2014 – Precinct Damage

On 27 November 2014, a ferocious storm cell hit Brisbane causing extensive damage to St John's Precinct.

All buildings on the site sustained substantial damage to roofs and windows. The cathedral suffered large amounts of water ingress which affected the organ and other areas. Fortunately the damage was covered by insurance. The repair works cost a total of $6m and continue into 2018. Work undertaken included: replacement of roof tiles on the cathedral, St Martin's House, Webber House and Church House, replacement of the copper sheeting on the western towers and the central tower, replacement of the cathedral lighting control system and external lighting. Replacement of roofing on the Deanery and Webber House annexe, installation of new stainless steel box guttering and 13 new dormer vents around the ambulatory roof of the cathedral. The chapels sustained water damage during the storm. As a result the chapels floor underwent restoration work in 2015 and 2016, the carpets were removed and the floors polished. This work dramatically improved the acoustics in these chapels. Extensive repair work was carried out on the organ and was completed in 2018.

The Lady Chapel and southern chapels also sustained water damage following the storm on 27 November 2014. As a result the chapels underwent floor restoration work in 2015 and 2016, the carpets were removed and the floors polished. This work dramatically improved the acoustics in these chapels.

Cathedral Stained Glass Windows

Post-storm, the upper ambulatory windows on the east end of the cathedral have been repaired and cleaned, protective glass was installed to prevent future damage. The protective glass was not covered by storm damage insurance.

The seven lower ambulatory windows (Bustard Windows) were taken out, restored and replaced. Again, protective glass was installed. This work was not covered by storm damage insurance but was undertaken to utilise the scaffolding that was erected for storm damage repair work.

The repair work on the remainder of the stained glass window on the eastern side of the cathedral was completed in 2017.

Church House Refurbishment

In August 2016, refurbishment work on Church House commenced and was completed in December 2016. NPS Commercial was the contractor. Church House is now back to its original state. The building has been totally rewired, painted, recarpeted, reglazed and new air conditioning installed. The main entrance is now at the southern face of the building and allows for disabled access.

During 2017, the diocesan archives moved into the ground floor of Church House and the Anglican Schools Office moved into the upper floor.

Tapestry Cushions from the Lady Chapel

The collection of 400 cushions was cleaned and restored in 2015, and catalogued in 2016. The cushions are currently being displayed in the glass cabinet in the northern transept. A new lighting system was installed in the display cabinet to highlight the cushions. The display changes monthly.

In November 2021, the cathedral launched the book, "Stitches in Time, the Cushions of St John's Cathedral, Brisbane". This is a wonderful record of the much loved and valued cushions that were hand stitched by parishes and schools in the 1980s.

Refurbishment of Blessed Sacrament Chapel

In 2015, Jack Barnes was commissioned to craft a new tabernacle for the Blessed Sacrament Chapel and to restore the altar. The tabernacle is now in place and enhances this space. In 2017, Jack Barnes developed a proposal to further enhance the altar. A faculty for the work has been granted and Jack Barnes commenced work in 2018.

Chapter is delighted that the new altar piece was completed and installed in time for the Tenth Anniversary of Completion Celebrations in October 2019.

West End Statues

The first three statues were installed in their niches on the west end of the cathedral on 28 January 2015. The Christ: Holy Wisdom; John the Baptist; and Mary Magdalene were the first of the series of 13 statues to be lifted into place. Statues in the west end are part of Pearson's plan for the cathedral. The statues are being carved by Dr Rhyl Hinwood AM, as funds are available and will be lifted in sets of three. Funds to complete all the statues were received in 2018.

Mary, Mother of Jesus and Joseph of Nazareth; Lazarus of Bethany, Mary of Bethany and Martha of Bethany; and James and John the Evangelist were dedicated on 6 May 2016.

On 29 November 2017, Matthias & Judas Iscariot; Peter & Paul; Luke & Matthew and Thomas & Mark were blessed by the Archbishop. The lifting of the statues into their niches was delayed until 15 December due to wet weather.

On 12 April 2019, James the Just & Bartholomew and Jude & Simon and Phillip & Andrew were raised into place. This completes the statue set.

Our thanks to Dr Rhyl Hinwood AM for her carving of these statues. In 2021, the ABC televised a documentary on Rhyl's work and the cathedral statues featured in the film.

Oratory Floor

The designs for the oratory (the space left vacant when the font was moved to the west end) floor and for the associated furniture have now been finalised. The project will be funded through a bequest from Dianna and Elizabeth Luker. Jack Barnes was commissioned to construct the mosaic floor and in 2021, Jack laid the red and grey concrete tiles which match very well to the existing tiles. Jack continues working on the parquetry work to be inlaid in the centre of this space.

Cathedral Sound System and AV

As reported in previous years, the cathedral's 10-year-old sound system was problematic and in need of a complete overhaul. After much consideration, Chapter commissioned Brisbane Sound to install a Dante mixing console and processor, and 38-speaker system that is zoned so that sound can be in the whole cathedral, or directed to particular areas, thus giving flexibility for different worship, liturgies, groups and concerts.

The project was challenging as St John's Cathedral had a sound delay of six seconds, the usual sound delay is 1-1.5 seconds. Another challenge was to install aesthetically pleasing speakers and cabling, and this was achieved.

The first large service when the sound system was used was the Ordination of Priests and Deacons on 2 December 2017, with approximately 1,150 people in attendance. The sound was excellent.

During 2021, the cathedral ran an appeal for new cameras and microphones to enable a link the sound desk at the west end, with the sound desk behind the choir stalls which is used to stream services. Two large TVs on hydrolic stands were purchased to replace the deteriorated large screens used during large services and events.

Queens & Regimental Colours & Guidons Display Project

Discussions were initiated last in 2016 with Steve Taubert, author of Preserving our Proud Heritage, to preserve and display the damaged guidons and regimental colours which at present are stored in St Martin's House. Steve has offered to be the champion for the project and will coordinate grant applications etc. This project is ongoing.

Adelaide House Balcony

The east balcony on Adelaide House (The Deanery) had become unsafe due to deterioration over many decades and was fully replaced during 2019. This balcony is an important part of Queensland's history. From here in 1859, Governor Bowen made the proclamation of Queensland as a separate colony from New South Wales.

Storm Water Pipes

During January 2020, the storm water pipes were replaced in the northern carpark. These pipes take the water from Stage 1 and Stage 2 of the northern side of the Cathedral. The pipes replaced were the original earthenware pipes.

Garden – Western end of Northern Carpark

As part of the replacement of the storm water pipes, it was decided to build a garden to replace the existing grass. The garden terraces are from sandstone blocks and the plants are all drought resistant.

The Cathedral Shop

The Cathedral Shop went online in 2021, as well as physically remaining in the south-west end of the cathedral.

Covid-19 – March 2020-December 2021

The cathedral team responded to the challenges of the Covid-19 lockdown remarkably well. The changes to our way of operating during the lockdown precipitated were many and varied, and yet the team demonstrated the capacity to engage sensitively, creatively and wisely with the complexities of the situation. Whilst many face-to-face activities, such as weddings, concerts and tours came to a complete halt, many other activities were able to continue in a modified form. Worship and studies rapidly transferred to online platforms such as Zoom and YouTube. Following the lockdown many of the activities that moved online have retained an online component and it is becoming clear to us that hybrid presentations are part of the emerging future.

As was the case across the globe, many members of the cathedral community were dealt hard blows by the emerging pandemic. Some had relatives and friends succumb to the virus, others lost businesses and jobs, or found the isolation and uncertainty stressful. Many are still forced to be at distance from family, often missing significant life events.

In the midst of the pandemic, the community was also invited to reflect on the experience so that we could recognise the new things that were emerging while also marking the pain of loss. On a number of occasions we reflected on questions that helped us be 'present' to the experience and to that which was emerging.

Brisbane was again in lockdown a number of times in 2021, resulting in services and events again being cancelled. Outside of lockdown, the cathedral opened from 11am-2pm Monday to Friday, it was wonderful to welcome visitors back to the cathedral. Weddings and events began to return as well.

Live Streaming of Services

Covid-19 lockdown meant having to change the way worship was done at the cathedral. It was decided to purchase video equipment to allow the live streaming of the three Sunday services so that parishioners could still partake in the service from their homes. As the lockdown was eased, it was found that there was still a demand for the streaming of the services so this has become a permanent part of cathedral life.

Role of Regional Bishops, Archdeacons & Area Deans

Gifts are given ... to equip the saints, for the work of ministry, for building up the Body of Christ.

Ephesians 4.12

The role descriptions below outline some of the expectations of Area Deans, Archdeacons and Regional Bishops. These expectations are not exhaustive, and each person is able to shape further the role they hold.

Area Deans, Archdeacons and Regional Bishops work with the Archbishop in encouraging, serving and building up the People of God. They extend pastoral care to the clergy of the diocese and work with all to realise our vision of 'Going for Growth in Christ'.

The Role of Area Deans

Area Deans draw the clergy and laity in the deanery together for mutual consultation, support and action to encourage effective ministry in the Church and in the wider community.

In particular, Area Deans:

- convene meetings of clergy in the Area Deanery for peer support, mutual encouragement and further education. Area Deaneries should meet at least four times a year.
- offer counsel and pastoral support to all clergy in the Area Deanery and foster fellowship for them and their families, taking care to include retired clergy, chaplains, locums, clergy widows, etc.
- oversee arrangements for commissioning services of new parish priests and chaplains in collaboration with parish lay leaders and submit the draft order of service for the Regional Bishop's approval in good time.

Area Deans are usually priests of busy parishes, so expectations of the time they have available need to be realistic.

The Role of Archdeacons

Archdeacons work with their Regional Bishop to support the Area Deans, clergy, parishes and other ministry agencies to enable the diocesan vision of 'Going for Growth in Christ' to be fulfilled.

Archdeaconries are usually defined geographically, although from time to time the Archbishop might create an Archdeacon with a particular ministry portfolio.

In particular, Archdeacons:

- are part of the ordained leadership team in the diocese and within the region. The Archdeacon is a channel of communication between diocesan officials, the Regional Bishop, Area Deans and clergy.
- are responsible for the Parish Review, at least every five years as prescribed by the relevant regulation, or when a parish becomes vacant.
- inspect church property, including rectories (by negotiation with the Parish Priest) every five years, and consult with Church Wardens about required repairs and refurbishments.
- consult with parishes about plans for new buildings or alterations to existing buildings, and indicate agreement or otherwise report on the prescribed form seeking building approval.
- receive from clergy, on the prescribed form, notification regarding leave or other absences and arrangements for the continuance of pastoral and liturgical ministries; and convey such arrangements to their Regional Bishop.
- welcome locum clergy during a parish interregnum and keep in touch with them during the length of their locum.
- consult with the Regional Bishop in finding pathways for the resolution of any parish conflict.
- work with the Regional Bishop and others in the development of strategies for church growth in the Archdeaconry, and in the implementation of good management procedures in parishes and other ministry agencies, such as record keeping, accounts, policies, etc.
- participate in the Archbishop's regular meeting with the Bishops, Archdeacons and Dean of the cathedral.

Archdeacons are also usually priests of busy parishes, so (as with Area Deans) expectations of the time they have available need to be realistic. Recognising the additional workload and responsibilities of Archdeacons, an annual allowance equal to 10% of the Minimum Rate of Stipend (MRS) will be paid by the diocese to the Archdeacon at the end of the year, (or for those who have not served a full year in the role a pro rata amount).

Provision is also made for a contribution to an Archdeacon's parish for expenses incurred by the parish because of the Archdeacon's ministry. Payments will be made annually to the parish as follows:

Archdeaconry	Percentage of MRS
West	8%
Cunningham, The Downs, Sunshine Coast, Burnett	6%
Brisbane, Lilley, Oxley, Moreton, Gold Coast	4%

The Role of Regional Bishops

The Regional Bishops form, with the Archbishop, an episcopal team serving the Diocese. Assistant Bishops undertake functions or roles requested or authorised by the Archbishop. This might include serving on one or more commissions from time to time.

Except for the responsibilities of decision and appointment that are specifically the Archbishop's, they carry out the role of a Bishop to the clergy and people in the episcopal region they serve. This is often a pastoral responsibility and will involve them closely in consultation with the clergy and people of the parishes. As "shepherds of the shepherds" they seek to encourage the development of ministry and the witness of clergy and laity in their region. They teach and defend the faith, encourage all Christians and foster hope for the future as we 'Go for Growth in Christ'.

The Bishops realise it is fundamental that they pray and plan together. For this purpose they meet together with the Archbishop each week.

Other roles and responsibilities of the Regional Bishops include:

- visiting parishes and other mission agencies regularly and spending time with clergy and people, for it is in the parishes and other mission agencies that the fundamental and continuing life and witness of the Church takes place.
- chairing, at the Archbishop's request, meetings of the Presentation Board.
- regular consultation with the region's Archdeacons and Area Deans, especially in relation to new appointments, strategies that might grow the church in faith, service, generosity and numbers, and to pastoral care especially of the clergy.

- keeping in touch with clergy who have recently accepted an appointment to a parish within the region and particularly with clergy in their first charge.
- responsibility for ecumenical relationships at the regional level, and the exploration, where appropriate, of possible co-operative ventures.
- responsibility for the making of locum tenens arrangements in the case of vacancies.
- being available to clergy and laity who seek an appointment and attentive to their needs and issues.

Therefore ... let us run with perseverance the race that is before us, looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith.

"Under section 44 of the Parishes Regulation Canon:

The Parish Priest and Churchwardens of each Parish shall, not later than 15 March in each year transmit to the Registrar, in such form as may be prescribed by Regulation –

- a) The names and other details of the persons appointed or elected as Churchwardens, Synod representatives, Parish Nominators, Parish Councillors and Parish Treasurer, certified by the Returning Officer;
- b) Information concerning the Parish and its personnel, including statistical information for the year just past;
- c) The Parish Annual Financial Return;

Paragraph 44(b) is further defined by Regulation X, which sets out specific reporting requirements in areas relating to people, church services, pastoral and educational work, buildings, provisions for travelling, stipends and amenities, and form of return.

It is recognised that collecting accurate and meaningful attendance figures for online services can be complex. This is due to the range of platforms used and the many possible ways that online attendance may be measured. There is no one standard for measuring online attendance and a diversity of opinions on what may be most indicative or helpful. While parishes are encouraged to track their own online attendance, for the purpose of the annual return, it is intended to collect information on in person church attendance. Average Sunday Attendance (in person) is one measure that can be used to indicate vitality. It is not the only measure nor is it the only one collected. Average Sunday Attendance is probably the best measure at present, being well established and with years of comparative data available. It is also one of the few standard measures used consistently across many denominations, countries, and research centres/agencies. Average Sunday Attendance allows us to see one aspect of the impact of COVID-19 on parishes and discern what church attendance post COVID-19 implies.

Average Sunday Attendance is a measure that might be considered when making strategic decisions both at a local and Diocesan level, might be requested when parishes are seeking a new priest, and may also be used in operational activities such as evaluating risk.

It is unclear that the prohibition in 2 Sam 24 extends to measuring church attendance. There are numerous instances in the New Testament of various counts or estimates being undertaken. These include the believers being numbered “about a hundred and twenty” when nominating disciples to replace Judas (Acts 1:15). A figure is cited in relation to Pentecost when 3,000 were baptised (Acts 2:41) and when 5,000 were counted as believers (Acts 4:4).”

2. Gives thanks for the survivors of IPV who contributed to the study by sharing their own experiences, and to all who participated in the various surveys and interviews which helped to compile the study;

Answer: 106 parishes can self-support full time clergy.

Question: Noting that there were 13 students in last year's formation at an average of 4 in each year level and that not all of them are headed for parish ministry – with the current retirement rate of clergy, how many future parish priests do we need to be training right now?

Answer: The question requires a complex analysis that cannot be done in the time available at the Synod.

- b) The long-term trend of population movement from regional and rural areas to urban and coastal areas continues with over 73% of our state living in the South East corner in 2020 compared to 65% in 2016 (Source: www.abs.gov.au)

The Anglican Church Southern Queensland pledges to broaden our inclusive environment where equitable participation in the full range of church activities is the basic right of all community members. The enrichment that is offered by diversity is a cause for celebration and community members are respected for contributing in whatever capacity they are able to do so rather than excluded on the basis of what they are unable to do.

We will achieve this by developing an Equitable Participation Plan, with our primary focus on the wellbeing, safety and positive experiences of each individual. We will build upon current initiatives while removing existing attitudinal and environmental barriers to full participation.

This is our pledge.

3. Supports the Working Group's current projects and commits to the use of the resources developed –
  - a. Development of a resource about understanding Autism and ADHD (neurodiversity) for parishes

2. Recognises that a significant proportion of gambling profits in Qld is drawn from poker machines, which are designed psychologically to incentivise continued play and corresponding financial loss,
3. Acknowledges that problem gambling is frequently a key factor involved in a range of other issues including criminal activity and domestic violence,
4. Asserts that in the acceptance of grants from the Community Gambling Fund by parishes and other agencies there is strong pressure for self-censorship of the church's prophetic voice in calling for reform to the gambling industry,

Thanks God, for and affirms the ministry of ADF chaplains full-time and part-time (Reserve) who minister to Defence personnel and their families to bring God's Gospel, love, healing, hope and pastoral care; and notes the difficulties and personal cost of this ministry to chaplains and their families and assures them of our love and support.
5. Notes the suffering of many veterans after their service and calls on the Commonwealth Government to lead, coordinate and fund the extension of the work done by ADF chaplains in support of veterans and their families.
